WRESTLING WEIGHT CERTIFICATION: ACHIEVING APPROPRIATE HYDRATION

- Recommendations for wrestlers to pass the dehydration test (testing of the urine) during weight certification
- Do NOT eat excessive protein or salty food the night before certification. (I.e. pizza, potato chips, etc.)
- Eat only a light breakfast such as juice and a piece of toast.
- Early morning hydration: 2½ to 3 hours prior to certification, drink at least 3 eight ounces of water. This will assure hydration and provide the body with sufficient time to excrete all excess water (often <1 hour). For the certification, athletes will be appropriately hydrated without any extra weight. Caution: an intake of excessive protein or salt the night before or for breakfast, will cause water retention and increased weight.
